Index

- 2. Qualifications recognition
- 3. Need of a recognition and accreditation model.

2. Qualifications recognition

- At the European level there is no qualification recognition in the meat industry sector. It could be any certification in the enterprises but not in the social agents field.
- There is no degree certificate in Europe, neither a body who be competent in the recognition of qualifications.

3. Need of a recognition and accreditation model.

- From the EFFAT point of view it's needed to arrange an European qualifications recognition licence, due to the increase of migrant people in the sector.
- A professional accreditation can be beneficial for the workers of the new European East countries. This tool would be useful to recognize their professional qualification.
- It's recognized that this accreditation improves the free mobility for workers. The mobility is a right and it can not under the control of the states. The non governmental organizations have a main role in this sense.

Model of certified (1)

- Europass: there is an agreement about the use of the Europass model and it's not considered suitable to do new contributions.
- Promoter: the social organizations who can promote the certified are: social agents, public bodies, the enterprises, ect.
- Collective negotiation: it's need to exist a link with the collective agreement.

Model of certified(2)

- Identification of the enterprises and kind of enterprises.
- Kind of post of working.
- Description of the needed competences in the sector.
- Definition of the qualifications recognition process.
- Identification of the staff who will assess and develop the qualification identification process.
- List of the degree, experiences and previous prove which will have in count.
- Emission of the competences licence.
